COME, HOLY SPIRIT: Sometimes it can be hard to get our heads around the idea of the Holy Spirit, because the Holy Spirit is not physical or material but rather a Spirit. We can picture Jesus, we can imagine him teaching and working miracles, but the Holy Spirit can seem much less tangible, yet the Holy Spirit is real.

The Spirit is alive and active, drawing us to God. Giving us gifts to help us bear fruit in the world, the fruit that Jesus asked of his followers. The Holy Spirit helps us to follow Christ, to be like Christ, to be holy. He is, in the words of Jesus "the spirit of truth". For the Christian who seeks to understand, to live by, the truths revealed by Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit is the essential guide and companion. If Jesus is the way to the Father then the Holy Spirit is our guide along the way.

JUST A THOUGHT...

Our neighbours across the water are en fête this weekend. Queen Elizabeth II became the longest-reigning British monarch on 9th September 2015. On 6th February 2017 she became the first British monarch to celebrate a Sapphire Jubilee, commemorating 65 years on the throne. In 2022, she became the first British monarch to reign for seventy years. Major celebrations for her Platinum Jubilee are about to begin. She is, by any yardstick, an extraordinary woman. And her subjects have every right to celebrate her.

Queen Elizabeth made a significant contribution to the Peace Process through her visit here. She visited the Republic of Ireland in May 2011. It was the first visit by a reigning British monarch to the Republic. It was seen as a symbolic normalisation of relations between the two countries following the signing of the 1998 Good Friday Agreement. During the visit, the Queen visited sites of significance for Irish nationalism, such as the Garden of Remembrance and Croke Park. However, when such events come to the fore, the uncomfortable notion of privilege hovers over the scene. But this is every bit as true for religious prelates as it is for secular monarchs. All carry a sense of entitlement that is alien to our democratic essence. Why should these particular specimens be elevated above the common folk? In Britain the annual financial burden is colossal. The monarchy cost the British taxpayer £67m during 2018-19.

In itself, privilege can be regarded as morally neutral. It's what we do with it that matters. Do I use my influence in the cause of justice, or against it? Many neutral observers will recognise that Queen has used the particular privileges of her position in the service of the public. But privilege can prove hard to prise from its evil twin, entitlement.

Entitlement poisons our relationship to the world around us. It can exempt us from applying to ourselves the same rules that we expect others to follow. It can infect us with a sense of impunity. It creates a culture which justifies the President who invades a neighbouring country, claiming its territory as his due. And it exonerates the private soldier who sees looting and rape as part of his spoils of war. Less dramatically, it legitimates the man who bullies female colleagues, and the boss who abuses junior co-workers. Fail to set the right culture and otherwise high achieving, people can be led to indulge in the very behaviours they had crafted laws to ban.

Frustrated entitlement, that sense of being deprived of our rightful superior place, fuels the fires of racism and twists some to terror. Entitlement has but one known antidote, humility. Never to be confused with the humbling caused by embarrassing revelations, freely chosen humility forms an abiding attitude to life. Jesus embodied it, St Francis of Assisi exemplified it, Holy women and men of many faiths seek it. From rulers to rough sleepers, anyone, privileged or unprivileged can, if they choose, possess it.

What separates privilege from entitlement is gratitude

A LITTLE BIT OF HUMOUR: Great having a boss in work who is from Scotland. Just been having a coughing fit in the canteen and he walks over and says, "Ah James, you have a wee cough?" I looked at him and replied: "That's great, cheers.... See ya next Tuesday."

THINGS YOU NEVER DO WHILST GROWING UP IN AN IRISH HOUSEHOLD....

1. Boil the kettle with no water in it...We have all been lead to believe that this will cause the kettle to explode. Nobody has ever tried it so whether or not this is true remains to be seen but the fear alone of doing this is enough to always pick up the kettle and give it a shake before you boil it.
2. Never let the fire go out.... It is seen as a sign of laziness. "You couldn't even keep the fire going". It is almost seen as an act of pure selfishness. This might seem a little dramatic but it is true. You will never be able to own your own house or live alone if you can't simply "throw a few briquettes on the fire"
3. Make tea for yourself without offering the rest of the family tea. It may not be commented on and you may think you have gotten away with it but it is noted in your family's mental notes. Irish people hold grudges that can last a lifetime. You will slowly but surely notice you are being excluded from the tea round. Unless it is your mother. Irish mothers always offer tea to their offspring (especially a son); no matter how many times they have been excluded. Ahh bless!

WORLD YOUTH DAY:

Parishes and Individuals are now invited to register their interest in either attending WYD Lisbon or organising a parish group to participate. Over the past year many parishes and people have noted in submissions for the Task Force and also preparatory meetings on Synod the importance of reaching out to younger people. World Youth Day will take place August 1 to 6 in Lisbon 2023. Package options and costs are still being determined and the registration system will open in September. At present it is intended to have the option for teenagers aged 16-18 to participate as well as those aged 18-29. This is a great opportunity to reach out to young people and connect them to young people in many parishes that will participate at WYD. A full pastoral programme for all pilgrims will also commence later in the year.

The Many Faces of Grief

Robert still cannot sleep too well, he's awake from 2am.
Janet is the opposite, and doesn't rise till ten.
Sarah made a special card, for each and everyone.
She did this sitting on the beach, while soaking up the sun.

Samuel went out to the shed, in the middle of the night.
He grabbed the axe and chopped the wood, until it was first light.
George took out his little boat, and sailed across the bay.
We may be family, we may be friends, but we each grieve in our own way.

Peter flew off the handle, anything set him off.
Pat put a message in a balloon and gently set it aloft.
Tui simply went to bed and hid under the sheets.
She couldn't bear to leave the house, it's now been several weeks.

Jane cleaned the entire house, from room to room she went.
Till the house was cleaner than it had ever been and all her tears were spent.

Leo couldn't wash at all, he didn't shower for days.
We may be friends or family but we grieve in different ways.

Mark just HAD to go to work to "take his mind off things",
Melissa walked to the park at dusk and sat quietly on the swings.
Bethany went down to the gym, she didn't do this for fun,
And if that didn't help ease her pain, she'd head out for a run.

Patricia looks like nothing's wrong, that not a tear was shed,
Plenty have been but no one knows, she only cries in bed.
So please be kind and gentle when loved ones pass away,
For each of us will be grieving in our own and special way.

STAMP DONATIONS: You may have seen the box of stamps in Shrulce post office, or the box in Glencorrib church porch? These used stamps are collected by a religious order based in Dublin called 'Handmaids of the Sacred Hearts' who recycle the stamps so they can be sold to stamp collectors. The money raised from this is used to give financial support to various projects the order is involved in around the world. They have sent some booklets which are available in the church porches with information on the work they are able to do as a result of your support. Thank you for your kind support, and if you have not recycled your old stamps, maybe you will consider doing it now.

A STRANGE OLD LADY HAS MOVED INTO MY HOUSE

I have no idea who she is, where she came from, or how she got in. I certainly did not invite her. All I know is that one day she wasn't there, and the next day she was.

She is a clever old lady and manages to keep out of sight for the most part, but whenever I pass a mirror, I catch a glimpse of her. And, whenever I look in the mirror to check my appearance, there she is hogging the whole thing, completely obliterating my gorgeous face and body. This is very rude! I have tried screaming at her, but she just screams back.

The least she could do is offer to pay part of the bills, but no. Every once in a while, I find a €5 note stuck in a coat pocket or some loose change under a sofa cushion, but it is not nearly enough. And I don't want to jump to conclusions, but I think she is stealing money from me. I go to the ATM and withdraw €50 and a few days later, it's all gone! I certainly don't spend money that fast, so I can only conclude the old lady is pilfering from me. You'd think she would spend some of that money to buy wrinkle cream. And money isn't the only thing I think she is stealing.

Food seems to disappear at an alarming rate-especially the good stuff like ice cream, crisps, and sweets. She must have a real sweet tooth, but she'd better watch because she is really packing on the pounds. I suspect she realizes this, and to make herself feel better, she is tampering with my scale to make me think I am putting on weight, too.

For an old lady, she is quite childish. She likes to play nasty games, like going into my wardrobes when I'm not home and altering my clothes so they don't fit. And she messes with my files and papers so I can't find anything. This is particularly annoying since I am extremely neat and organized.

She has found other imaginative ways to annoy me. She gets into my post, newspapers, and magazines before I do and blurs the print so I can't read it. And she has done something really sinister to the volume controls on my TV, radio, and mobile phone. Now, all I hear are mumbles and whispers. She has done other things-like make my stairs steeper, my vacuum heavier and all the knob and taps harder to turn. She even made my bed higher so that getting into and out of it is a real challenge.

Lately, she has been fooling with my groceries before I put them away, applying glue to the lids, making it almost impossible for me to open the jars. She has taken the fun out of shopping for clothes. When I try something on, she stands in front of the dressing room mirror and monopolizes it. She looks totally ridiculous in some of those outfits, plus, she keeps me from seeing how great they look on me.

Just when I thought she couldn't get any meaner, she proved me wrong. She came along when I went to get my picture taken for my driver's license, and just as the camera shutter clicked, she jumped in front of me

I hope she never finds out where you live! ☹️ Author Unknown

How NOT TO Become A Little Old LADY

MATTERS OF SOME INTEREST - BUILDING HOPE TASK FORCE: Dublin's Archbishop Dermot Farrell established a Task Force called Building Hope last April. The Task Force was asked to assess the needs of the people of the Archdiocese emerging from Covid-19 and to work to support parish communities as they undertake a radical renewal, looking to the future with creativity. 3,000 people, mostly lay faithful, responded to the invitation to share their views. The Task Force report is now available and is very extensive. But it is an 'active' document rather than a document to be read and 'put down'. Some of the points raised were:

- The value of Community
- Importance of the Eucharist for Parish community
- Sadness at absence of youth from liturgy and Church events.
- Failure to recognise women as equal partners in Church.
- Patriarchy and the lack of desire to collaborate with the laity.
- Cultural gap between church and society.

A lot of work remains to be done!

SPIRITUAL COMMUNION PRAYER:

My Jesus, I believe that you are present in the most Blessed Sacrament. I love You above all things and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot now receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart. I embrace You as if You were already there, and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.

PRAYER FOR VOCATIONS:

Heavenly Father, we praise you and thank you for all you have done for us. We thank you especially for sending your Son, Jesus Christ, to visit and save us. We ask you to bless our family and all the people of our parish, especially those who are suffering in any way. Encourage those in our parish whom you invite to become priests, religious and permanent deacons, and grant them the generosity of mind and heart to follow your call. May they bring good news to our world today. We ask this through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.
